

12: If God Made Everything Good, The Why Shouldn't I Smoke Pot?

Suggested Facebook Posts

FB: In Genesis 1:31, God saw everything He had made and said that it was “very good.” After all, all things were made by Him, and He is a good God. Does this mean we can use the earth and its resources in any way we choose? We must keep in mind that God pronounced creation good before the curse of sin. When Adam and Eve sinned (Gn 3), they brought sin into the world, which included many negative consequences. However good the world was before the fall, it became less good afterwards. Thus God’s world today is good in many ways, but even good things can be abused and misused. Learn more about Apologetics and how God has wants us to use His creation, by visiting ApologeticsBible.com.

FB: Clearly hemp is good, but like many good things in God’s good-but-cursed world, hemp can be misused and abused. Marijuana is good in some ways, but not in every way. There are many plants that have very positive uses as a medicine or a textile product, but when ingested or smoked can impair our minds, leading to foolish and reckless actions. Such use can even be toxic or fatal. Discover how Apologetics can fuel your faith at ApologeticsBible.com

Suggested Tweets

TWEET: (from Blog) God’s world today is good in many ways, but even good things can be abused and misused. #ConfidentFaith bit.ly/More2C

TWEET: (from TM – pg 133) Whenever dealing with ancient history the question is not if we can have absolute certainty but sufficient certainty. #ConfidentFaith bit.ly/More2C

TWEET: (from ASBS pg. 1113) Luke 23:44-46 has been twisted to claim that Jesus merely fainted during His crucifixion. #ConfidentFaith bit.ly/More2C