FB: (from blog) While wives are instructed to respect and submit to their husbands, husbands are also instructed to love, lead, protect, and provide for their wives. The husband's leadership is not to be domineering, but loving, as Christ loves the church and gave His life for it. Sharon James notes, "The Bible explains the meaning behind gender distinctions. Masculine strength can be for protection and provision. Many women are gifted with a 'helper design'—relational capacities to nurture and care" ("Does the Bible Demean Women?" in The Apologetics Study Bible). FB: (from blog) To fully answer the question, "Does the Bible demean women?" we really must ask, "Did Jesus demean women?" As God incarnate, He did not demean women. Rather, He powerfully affirmed their worth. He demonstrated love and compassion to women and engaged them in discussions about relationships and other significant issues. (Mt. 9:22; Jn 4:7-29) In fact, the level of interaction He had with women shocked His disciples and the religious leaders of His day. Jesus Christ valued and affirmed women, and He is our ultimate example. Know more about your faith through the study of apologetics by visiting ApologeticsBible.com.
